

Service and Supply Provider Receipt Best Practices for Group Benefit Reimbursement

The following is a suggested list of best practices to be used by medical service and supply providers when invoicing customers. These best practices have been developed by member companies of the Canadian Life and Health Insurance Association (CLHIA) and are an important tool in ensuring valid claims are paid promptly. They also assist in reducing fraudulent activities and delays resulting from incomplete information.

General:

The same best practices generally apply to both handwritten receipts and computer-generated receipts. Where receipts are handwritten, they should be in a legible format.

Duplicate receipts issued to patients should be clearly identified as:

DUPLICATE RECEIPT – ORIGINAL ISSUED ON (DATE)

Providers should not leave fields on a receipt blank as this can allow for tampering. If a field is not applicable, N/A or a zero-dollar amount should be indicated. The more complete the information provided on a receipt, the less the chance of receipt tampering, or decline for reimbursement.

Receipt date	Date on which receipt was provided. May or may not correspond to 'date of service/supply'. If different, both must be indicated. We would suggest the following date format: YYYY//MM/DD	For online purchases, such as vision care (contact lenses, frames and lenses) receipts, the date on which the supply was received or dispensed, or the receipt date, is acceptable. For supplies that are received or purchased at an eligible provider, the date the supply was paid for and the date that the supply is dispensed are both required. We would suggest the following date format: YYYY/MM/DD If the medical supply is a rental, this must be noted.	For multiple receipts or service dates indicated on a single receipt, the dates of service must be clearly indicated, and only the dates where services have been completed should be indicated for reimbursement. Future dates will not be considered for reimbursement. This includes those situations where the consumer has prepaid for a series of visits. Services will only be reimbursed upon service delivery. The foregoing is consistent with both Canadian Payments Association and International Cheque standards.
Date of service /supply	Date of service if service rendered on date other than receipt date. If different, both must be indicated. If the receipt represents payment for several different service dates, all dates should be shown.	For online purchases, such as vision care (contact lenses, frames and lenses) receipts, the date on which the supply was received or dispensed, or the receipt date, is acceptable. For supplies that are received or purchased at an eligible provider, the date the supply was paid for and the date that the supply is dispensed are both required.
Services Billed by Monthly Fee	Where a consumer has purchased a treatment series for a set monthly fee, no matter how many or few services were delivered, insurers will reimburse as services are delivered up to a maximum of the monthly fee.
